I am ted, the effect to state that, in my opinion, it is far superior to any thing of the kind as yet presented to the public. I find it better adapted for the suppor, of the abdominal viscera, and better calculated to be serviceable in the distressing compaints which I have above alluded to, than any I have seen. Owing to the near and mechanical adaptation to the refresh it appears to be prefer before the contract.

Letter from Dr. Higgason, of Sommerville For the benefit of those interested I feel it my duty to make a statement in reference to the parent Abdominal Supporter, invented by Mr. A. J.

Lonsbury.

I have prescribed the above apparatus in many cases of Prolapsus and Procidentia Uteri. I have used it ex ensively in my pragice over since its invention by Mr. Lonsbury, (two years) and al-ways with decided benefit. I think it very far superior to any thing of the kind over presented superior to any thing of the kind ever pre-orded to the public. Combining, as stades, every principle of support of the Abdominal and Pelvi Viscera calcula, and to be practically useful in the distressing complaints alluded to above. Its near nechanical adaptation to the parts, also rende, its use entirely easy and comborable at all times.
